PRODUCTION OF NATIVE

Canadian Tobacco

The Province of Quebec produces annually, on a little over 12,000 acres, over 10 million pounds of Tobacco.

In certain parts of the Province, tobacco production has become a science, while in others it has remained what it was 100 years ago.

That is why there is good and bad native tobacco being sold. Some planters, however, and their number is growing rapidly, have found that it pays to produce a good tobacco. They have studied the different phases of tobacco sowing, planting, harvesting, curing and marketing; have formed Co-operative Societies, built modern drying houses for the curing of tobacco and have succeeded in producing a native tobacco equal in texture and aroma to the best imported. It is from tobacco obtained from these planters that

"BILL" MURRAY, BRILLIANT GRAD, INJURED IN AIR

Rhodes Scholar is Wounded for the Second Time.

FOUNDER OF THE DAILY.

Brilliantly Versatile Graduate is Captain in the Royal Flying Corps.

Word has reached the University that Captain W. E. G. Murray, Arts '12, Rhodes Scholar from McGill in 1913, and founder of McGill Daily, is in hospital in France suffering from injuries received in action in the Royal Flying Corps in France. The details of the injury to Captain Murray are meagre. Such information as is available is contained in a letter from the young aviator himself, written in a dressing station in France ten days ago. He simply states that he has been in a "bad crash," and that his back is injured.

Captain "Bill" Murray was in England attending to his studies at Oxford when the war was declared. He immediately enlisted in King Edward's Horse, but after a short period of service with this unit was transferred to the Royal Flying Corps as a second lieutenant. He has since been connected with the Royal Flying Corps, and is now recognized as one of the most efficient flyers in that branch of the service.

For a year he has held the rank of captain, being a flight commander and being employed on special detail in intelligence work. Last year he was brought down in a fight with a German plane, and had both shoulders broken and his collar bone fractured as well. He was struck in mid-air on this occasion, but by dint of skilful manipulation of his machine managed to land behind the British lines.

Captain Murray was one of the most versatile students ever turned out of McGill, to which University he came from British Columbia with an exceptional record. In that province his chief academic achievement lay in capturing the Governor General's medal by an exceptionally high standard, which set a record in this competition which was open to the province at large. During his High School course he was never equalled either in any individual subject or in any aggregate of subjects. At McGill, B.C., he easily headed his class with first rank honours, and entered the University at the top of the list of second year exhibition winners. At the sessional examinations in 1910 he received a first class mark in all subjects, being especially distinguished in classics and literature. In this third year at McGill he entered the honours class in English and History, and was awarded second rank honours. In his final year he specialized in the Department of History, being the writer of several theses of note, the most notable of which dealt with the Far East and with Pacific Supremacy. One of the features of Capt. Murray's academic career was the winning of the McKenzie Scholarship in the third and fourth years.

In athletics Capt. Murray specialized on the track, and especially at one mile and seven mile distances. Undoubtedly his most notable athletic achievement was his establishment of a record for the McGill around-the-Mountain road race, a distance of seven and three-quarter miles, which he negotiated in 33 min. 41 sec. Next to this ranks his captaincy of the championship McGill harrier team in the Inter-collegiate meet of 1910. Then there was his dramatic victory at the Thirteenth Annual Inter-collegiate Track Championships, in 1911, when he won the mile event when it was the turning point in what brought to McGill the first senior championship in five years. During the summer of 1910 he competed in the summer meets of the M.A.A.A., culminating a long series of successes by winning the mile event from a representative field at the annual M. A. A. A. Championships. Besides this record in Eastern Canada he has to his credit a score of wins at various athletic meets at the principal centres of his native province.

It was, however, in the province of undergraduate organization that lay Capt. Murray's special prowess. While still at the Vancouver High School, "Bill" was prominently engaged in student activities. As editor of the college Argus he scored a distinct triumph, and as winner of the first oratorical and debating contest held in the school forecasted greater achievements that were to come. At McGill B. C., Capt. Murray was class president, captain of a winning track team, president of a literary society, member of the Alma Mater Society, and associate editor of the Annual.

At McGill Capt. Murray's chief claim to distinction in this respect was the organization and conduct of McGill Daily. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Students' Council of 1909 appointed him editor of the Marlet for the following session. Thereupon he set about a scheme for the foundation of a daily University newspaper conducting an organization campaign in the face of considerable opposition and scepticism. His sterling optimism, however, was sufficient to overcome all obstacles, with the result that on October 1, 1911, McGill was able to boast of the first college daily newspaper in the Dominion.

IS PLAYING WITH QUEEN'S.

"MIKE" RODDEN.

This former McGill football player was with the Queen's team which met the 207th Battalion team, coached by Frank Shaughnessy, last Saturday. Curiously enough, Mike was coached by Shaughnessy when he was with the McGill team of 1914, and was thus playing against his former instructor. With the 207th team was another old McGill player and captain, "Pep" Paisley, who now holds a commission in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. "Pep" was unfortunately injured, and will be out of the game for some time.

SERBS DID ALL POSSIBLE TO AVERT CRISIS

Says Dr. Colby, in Lecture at R. V. C.

THE DIPLOMATIC CRISIS.

Serbia in Reality Only Given 24 Hours to Reply to Ultimatum.

"Premier Pashitch did everything but commit Serbia to a policy of political suicide. There he drew the line, and it was because Austria had decided that she would be content with nothing less than the political suicide of Serbia that she was not content with concessions such as no independent state in modern times has ever made," said Dr. C. W. Colby, in dealing with the Serbian reply to the 48 hours' Austrian ultimatum, in his lecture on "The Diplomatic Crisis," in the "Europe at War" series at the Royal Victoria College yesterday afternoon.

In opening his lecture, Dr. Colby pointed out that the time limit of the note was in reality twenty-four hours or less, since the Foreign Secretaries of the Serbian Government were away on their holidays and expected no such trouble. No time was given for Serbia to consult with the Entente Powers, who might be regarded as willing to assist her in the crisis which had arisen. The reply which was made by Serbia on July 25, 1914, was extremely conciliatory in tone, the ten sections of the Austrian note being answered in detail. The Serbian Government agreed to dissolve the Narodna Odrbana, and any other organizations which were agitating against Austrian rule, but in general expressed a wish to preserve friendly relations with the Hapsburgs, and to submit the whole matter to the Hague Tribunal.

MAJOR BURNETT GETS THE D. S. O.
Friends in this city have received word from Major Phillip O. Burnett, Med. '00, with No. 6 Field Ambulance at the front, that he has received the Distinguished Service Order for good work at the front. The letter from Major Burnett simply stated that he had received a despatch reading: "Congratulations. Awarded D. S. O. Official." Major Burnett was lecturer in dermatology in the Faculty of Medicine and Dermatology at the Royal Victoria Hospital when he set about the organization of No. 6 Field Ambulance here in the spring of 1915. There are a number of other McGill men in this unit which has seen some hard fighting recently. Its commanding officer, Lt.-Col. R. P. Campbell, Arts '97, Med. '01, being killed in action. Major O. Burnett is a graduate in Arts of the University of Toronto, and did post graduate work in London after leaving McGill.

DEAN AGAINST SCRAP; SECOND YEAR IN FAVOR

Imposition of Fine Discussed at the Union.

DEAN MOYSE WAS PRESENT

Second Year Men Say That Imposition of Fine is Not Justified.

Moved by M. P. Whelen, seconded by H. Mouquin, that if a fine be imposed it be extended to the first and second years alike—that the meeting place itself on record as not being in favour of the imposition of a fine, and that the Students' Council recommend to the Committee on Morals and Discipline that should a fine be imposed, it be as small as possible.

This is the resolution adopted at the meeting of the Second Year of the University, the Students' Council and the chairman of the Committee on Morals and Discipline, held yesterday afternoon in the great hall of the Students' Union, to deal with the question of the fine which the Committee on Morals and Discipline is to impose on students of the Second Year in connection with their conduct on Thursday last. At the meeting Dean Moyses, chairman of the Committee on Morals and Discipline, came out strongly against further operation of the annual inter year "scrap," while various speakers came out just as strongly in favour of its continuance, provided damage to property did not result, and provided proper precautions were taken to guard against injury to participants.

For nearly two hours debating was carried on regarding different points at issue. The meeting was called by Frank B. Common, president of the Students' Council, in order that the opinion of the Second Year might be sought regarding the fine and upon whom it should be imposed. Much of the discussion proved extraneous, it being finally incorporated in the resolution above reproduced, that the fine be imposed upon the year as a whole.

When Mr. Common called the meeting to order a few minutes after five o'clock there were approximately 100 students in the hall. Mr. Common related the circumstances surrounding the calling of the meeting and the opinions which had been expressed by Dean Moyses to him (Common) as president of the Students' Council. The fine was to be imposed not merely to cover the damage done to University property, but to serve as a corrective measure for trespass upon University property, and as a penalty for concerted absence from lectures, this being classed as an offence against University discipline.

Various Second Year men asked questions relating to the common issue, all of which Mr. Common endeavored to answer so far as his knowledge of the matter extended. When Dean Moyses arrived at the meeting, he took up several of the points which had been brought up. The University buildings, he said, were used conformably to University rules, and he did not think that the builders of any of them had in mind that they would be used for a temporary place of detention. If the students took possession of any building, they were amenable to law, and the University could take drastic action to have them ejected. Dealing with absence from lectures, which he believed was general with the First and Second Years, throughout the University last Thursday, Dr. Moyses asked the students present if they thought this was a respectable and proper way to treat the members of the staff who had come to lecture at appointed hours, and in appointed places. This point, Dr. Moyses said, weighed perhaps more than any other with the Committee of Morals and Discipline, it was "quite a serious thing."

Regarding the imposition of the fine, Dr. Moyses could only refer to the action of his committee at the time of similar disturbances last year, when that body had stated that should an incident of this kind occur again, a fine would be imposed. After referring to the Students' Council as a body he had always found of great help in retaining peace and harmony among the different elements of the University, Dr. Moyses stated that it would be to him one of the happiest things of his life if, after all his years of service at the University, he could leave it with the annual Freshman-Sophomore "scrap" a thing of the past. The students had certainly gone beyond their rights in taking possession of University property. Replying to a statement by a Second Year student that First Year men had also been implicated in the disturbances in that they intended to attack the Sophomores, the Dean said that his committee must take into consideration what actually took place, and not what might have been.

"We, as McGill men, should be rightfully surprised to find any effort to suppress the 'scrap' after all the years it has existed, and after all it has meant to generations of students," said T. J. Heeney, Second Year Science president, in defending the action of the Sophomores. The latter, he said, wanted intelligent and sympathetic consideration of their activities. They had recognized property rights, he claimed, in that they had avoided private property and remain-

YOUR MISTAKE AGAIN! QUEEN'S.

The following is a portion of an editorial appearing in Queen's University Journal of the issue of October 20th:

"... It has meant that every undergraduate has been trained in responsibility and service, and that every graduate who left our Halls has been proud that he was a Queen's man and a graduate of THE ONLY SELF-GOVERNING UNIVERSITY IN AMERICA."

The capitals are our own. Where the editor of the Queen's University Journal secured the information upon which he bases his editorial is unknown to us; however, one thing is known, not only to us, but to every University publication in Canada, and we venture to say in America, (which keeps abreast of the times), and that is that Queen's University is NOT by any means the only University in Canada, much less in America, which enjoys the privilege of self-government.

Upon glancing through this same issue of the Journal we find a couple of articles clipped from the McGill Daily (duly acknowledged) and this fact goes to show at least that our paper is read by the Journal's staff. If this is true, where did the editor get the impression that McGill is not a self-governing University? What does the editor think the Students' Council is elected for? In the present issue he may read of one of the many duties which the Council is called upon to perform. The Committee of Morals and Discipline at McGill before levying any fine on the students concerned in the recent Freshman-Sophomore contest consulted the Students' Council, which is the ONLY RECOGNIZED MEDIUM BETWEEN STUDENTS AND UNIVERSITY AUTHORITIES AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC. Is that definite enough for you, Mr. Editor? The present issue is not by any means the first of this session's which pointed out that this was the function of the Council, not in so many words, perhaps, but in a way that imparted the information, in a no less certain manner. While we are dealing with the question it might not be out of place to state a few facts regarding the body of students controlling the destiny of the student body.

The Students' Council is the executive council of the Students' Society, a body which embraces in its membership all undergraduates of the University who have paid the universal fee for the current session. Its business is to administer all the business of the Students' Society, to strive to promote social life and academic unity among the students, and to control all funds contributed by the general body of students to any undergraduate enterprise. The Executive Council also has power to act as a court before which any students may be called to account for a misdemeanor, although this latter function is rarely exercised. The management and control of the McGill Daily are by constitution vested in this Executive Council. Without going into too great detail the above are the functions, duties and powers of the Students' Council, and are surely clear enough to demonstrate beyond all cavil that McGill students possess self-government to the highest possible degree compatible, of course, with the proper conduct of a University.

The duty of an editor, to come back to the subject immediately in hand, is to express sensible, truthful views on topics coming within the scope of his work, and not to splash ink recklessly or incorporate in the productions of his pen extraneous random thoughts which happen to wander across his editorial mind. In other words he is supposed to know what he is talking about. We are, however, driven to the conclusion that this prerequisite is sadly lacking in the individual who occupies the editorial chair on the Journal published by the Alma Mater Society of Queen's University. We might add, as a postscript, that about this time last year we were forced to correct a false statement appearing in the editorial column of the Queen's Journal. Might we inquire if this is an annual epidemic?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A letter printed in the correspondence column calls attention to the fact that the executive of the "Lit." was to a certain extent misrepresented in the editorial column yesterday. If the statements contained in the letter are true, and we have no reason to doubt them, we would respectfully advise the officers of the Literary and Debating Society to put their plans in operation in the very near future. Procrastination has been the great enemy of more than one organization within the University, and it should not be allowed to undermine this necessary adjunct to our college life. The time to hold debates is before the Christmas vacation, because after these holidays students are concerned with the approaching examinations, and have not the proper time to devote to their studies. One of the reasons prompting yesterday's editorial was the fact that plans for last year's activities of the "Lit." were announced by October 14th, and the first meeting held on the 18th of the same month. We wish the Society a very successful year, and can only express the hope that the opinions voiced yesterday in this column will not have created the impression that the executive is not "attending to business."

IS A PILOT IN R. N. A. S.

Sub-Lieut. Oliver J. Gagnier, of Civil '17, is attached to the Royal Naval Air Service, and is now training in England. Immediately after writing the exams in the spring Sub-Lieut. Gagnier went to Toronto, and after spending three months in that city received his pilot's certificate. "Herb," Woodliff, '16, was another McGill man who qualified in Toronto at the same time. Sub-Lieut. Gagnier was in "A" Company when the C.O.T.C. first began, under Lieut.-Col. Starke. He attended the spring camp and was in "D" Company last year.

HOCKEY CLUB EXECUTIVE.

There will be a meeting of the executive of the Hockey Club this afternoon at 5 p.m., in the Union. Every member of the executive is requested to be present, as business of an important nature is to be discussed.

BIG TURN-OUT AT PRACTICE.

Yesterday afternoon the men of the Faculties of Arts and Law held a football practice. Fully twenty men appeared at the Stadium at 2.30. These were soon in action, and all keen to make a good showing. Some of the Freshmen especially displayed good form, which speaks well for the changes of the team against the Meds. The men are reminded of the signal practice to-day at 1 p.m. sharp, on the old campus.

IS AN INSTRUCTOR.

News received from England states that Maurice J. Brophy, '17, is an instructor in range finding at an artillery school in England. Brophy enlisted in Cape's Battery last November, just prior to the departure of that unit from Canada. At McGill he was a member of the C.O.T.C., and attended the spring training camp at Niagara in May, 1915.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence column. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculty will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY. No communications will be admitted to this column without the name of the writer being attached FOR PUBLICATION.

The Editor, McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—With reference to the article which appeared in yesterday's Daily complaining of the inactivity of the "Lit.", does it not appear to you that your representative should have obtained all possible information on the subject, before writing on such an important subject. The "survivors" of the "Lit." executive have spent considerable time and thought upon the prospects for the coming session, and could have materially assisted the author of the said editorial.

Conditions this year are peculiar, and it would be very unwise for the executive to announce any programme which has not been considered from every point of view. You may rest assured that when we have decided upon our course of action, the executive officers of the Society will spare neither time nor energy to insure the success of the "Lit."

Yours truly,

D. CLARK HYDE,
Secretary, the McGill Literary and Debating Society and Canadian Club.

Fellows and Classmates of Med. '17.—Now that the task of the wonderful sleuth, Picklock Holes, King of the Sleuths, and his co-worker, the famous Lord Harcourt, is completed, and has been proved successful, I take great pleasure on behalf of the princess and myself to congratulate them most heartily.

I now submit my apology for not making this disclosure earlier, but knowing that it is never too late to mend, I believe I still have some consolation in laying claim to some praise for my behaviour.

The motives that have prompted me from withholding from you until now, this sacred incident of my life were none other than honest ones; among which number one was to give a surprise to the class, another being sheer humanness, bashfulness that usually captivates the mind of a recent benedict, and prevents him from telling Freshmen.

This is a thing of the past. The thing of the present is what concerns us most.

I have heard and read with pleasure the welcome that has been accorded me, and which still seems to flow from every quarter wherein I encounter those with whom I have had the pleasure of being acquainted. The recent revelation having been made, our oldest Benedict, the famous "Dad" Lamb finds himself more recent than he had thought, nevertheless fellows, I have great pleasure in saying that I am proud to be associated with, and have the privilege of being a member of Med. '17, and to be linked with three other Benedicts.

I must assure you, gentlemen, that I appreciate very much the manner in which you have taken up the story of my life.

This being the closing chapter of our University life, and feeling that in a few more months, for many of us the chapter will have ended, and that we will have soon departed to various parts of the globe to pursue our various avocations in life's great battle, perhaps never again to enjoy a reunion and chat over our past, I thought it important and my duty to unfold this most important chapter of my life.

I am sure that when I shall have left the shores of this Dominion and shall have returned home to mine, and shall have described to her the lands I have traversed, the scenes I have gazed upon with inexpressible pleasure, and the people I have met, that which she will welcome most dearly will be the well wishes from the class of Med. '17.

(Signed)

ARCHIBALD BISSEMBER.

SCIENCE '18 ELECTIONS.

A meeting of the class of Science '18 was held yesterday in the Physics Building at 1 p.m., to elect officers for the coming year. Mr. T. J. J. Fox, was elected chairman of the meeting. Nominations were then called for, and voting took place with the following results: President, L. J. Jordan; Vice-Pres., H. C. Lee; Sec.-Treas., F. L. Cann; Representatives to the Annual Board, J. F. Wickenden and N. J. Lake.

The meeting was well attended, practically the whole year turning out, and affairs were conducted in a very quick and business-like manner.

DR. MOSESSON TO SPEAK.

ion, and the first genuine expression of the Greater McGill idea from the student standpoint. Other outstanding features of Capt. Murray's University career are his editorship of the 1910 Annual, the presidency of the Literary and Debating Society in 1911 and the presidency of the Track Club in the same year.

As a student orator, Capt. Murray was awarded the gold medal in 1910 for a speech on "The Future of Vancouver," which was later produced in pamphlet form by an English firm and circulated throughout the world. After graduation from Arts, Capt. Murray was employed in newspaper work in Montreal, being on the staff of the Montreal Herald. He was also for a time in charge of the special interviewing department of Lloyd's Greater Britain Company.

MEDICINE IN DEFAULT.

For the second time since nominations have been requested from the Faculty of Medicine for the Union House Committee, no men have been named by this Faculty to stand for election. Nominations for these positions closed originally early in the month, but the Faculty of Medicine was the exception in putting forward no representatives. The Union House Committee met and appointed Tuesday, the 24th, as a further day for the receipt from the Faculty of Medicine, fixing to-day as the date of the election if such was required. Again no nominations were received, and the matter will have to come once more before the House Committee for Legislation.

ARTS UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY HAS MEETING

New Officers Elected by Acclamation Recently are Presented to the Society.

The officers of the Arts Undergraduate Society recently returned by acclamation, were presented to the members of the Society at a meeting held in the Mathematics room of the Arts Building yesterday at twelve o'clock. The president of the Society, Peter A. G. Clark, '17, occupied the chair, and introduced the new officers, K. P. Tsolainos, '18; H. A. Aylen, '19, and H. H. Rosen, '20, each of whom spoke briefly. In the absence of the secretary and treasurer elected last session, both of whom are not in attendance at the University this session, Mr. Clark reviewed the work accomplished by the Society in 1915-16, touching upon the holding of smokers and the preparation of a roll of honour of all students and graduates of the Faculty on active service. The compilation of the latter has not yet been completed, but it will be hung in the hall of the Arts building at an early moment. Mr. Clark stated that it was the intention of the Society to hold a series of monthly smokers this session, with the assistance of outside talent, in order to do away with the stereotyped form of entertainment previously in vogue. He asked the members of the undergraduate body of the Faculty to consider seriously the matter of the holding of an Arts dinner this session as the matter will be brought up for discussion at an early meeting of the Society.

R. V. C. NOTES.

The contents for the Christmas stockings for the soldiers may be obtained in the Common Room of the R. V. C. Thursday afternoon, from 1.30 to 6 o'clock. Any one unable to come Thursday afternoon, be sure and come Friday morning.

The Gazette of yesterday reports the death at her home in Victoria, B.C. of Miss Cecilia R. Greene, who graduated in '10. Miss Greene was a resident student of the R. V. C., and many friends will be shocked at the sad news of her death.

The three following matches were played off in the Inter-year Tennis Tournament yesterday:

E. Ross won from M. Muir, 12-4.
W. Wyatt won from E. Abbott, 10-6.
M. Spier won from F. Grindley, 11-5.

A basketball practice of the four years was held yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, but owing to the fact that tennis is still going on, not many were present. It is to be hoped that there will be a larger attendance at the next practice.

LT. H. H. SCOTT IS BELIEVED TO HAVE LOST LIFE

McGill Graduate Was With Grenadier Guards Battalion.

IN EYE-WITNESS REPORT.

Lieut. A. G. Haultain, Graduate in Science, Is In Hospital in Brighton, England.

Uncertainty surrounds the reported death of Lieut. Henry Hutton Scott, Law '14, who was serving with a Grenadier Guards Battalion from this city on the French front. Although the Canadian Eye-Witness report issued at an early hour this morning records the circumstances surrounding his death, W. B. Scott, Law '12, his brother, has received no official word and believes that it may be another Lieut. Scott, of the same battalion, who is referred to. The Eye-Witness states that while the company with which Lieut. Scott, son of Canon Scott, of Quebec, was engaged in making a charge, paused in order to wait for an artillery barrage to lift, this officer was hit. For some time his men did not know that he had been shot and instantly killed, but when they did discover this fact, so incensed were they that they advanced immediately and occupied their objective. The fact that the Lieut. Scott referred to is mentioned as the son of Canon Scott, of Quebec, lends colour to the belief that it is the McGill graduate in law who was killed.

Lieut. H. H. Scott is 23 years of age, and the son of Rev. Canon F. G. Scott, past student, who is now senior chaplain of the First Canadian Division, and whose bravery at the front has won for him the devotion of the soldiers with whom he has been brought in contact, as well as the award of a commandship in the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Rev. Canon Scott is the well known Canadian poet. Born at Quebec, Lieut. Scott studied at one of the educational institutions of that city before coming to McGill and entering the Faculty of Law. On graduation he entered the legal firm of Meredith, Holden and Co., in this city, and was with this firm when he enlisted as a lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards Battalion under Brigadier-General Meighen, Arts '89. He trained at Montreal and at St. Johns, Que., and went overseas last spring. His battalion has since been attached to the Fourth Canadian Division.

A brother of Lieut. Scott, W. B. Scott, Law '12, and a former member of the Students' Council, went overseas as a private in the 14th Royal Montreal Battalion of the First Canadian Division, and was wounded in the eye not long after he landed in France. He is now in the city practicing law.

Lieut. A. G. Haultain.

Relatives in Montreal have received a cable from England announcing that Lieut. Alexander G. Haultain, Sci. '10, of the 11th Field Company, Canadian Engineers, First Canadian Division, is in hospital at Brighton, England, suffering from nervous debility. Lieut. Haultain trained at Ottawa before he went overseas with a draft of the Canadian Engineers. After further training in England he was drafted to the First Canadian Division. In the same field company there are three other McGill men, Lieuts. J. D. Armstrong, Arts '10, Sci. '12; G. A. Johnson, Sci. '12; and J. H. Forbes, Sci. '08. All the section officers of the company are McGill graduates. Lieut. Haultain's home is in Prince Arthur street west.

bunal for deliberation. A substitute which Serbia suggested was that the crisis should be submitted to the same group of the Great Powers which had adjusted the difficulties which had existed between Austria and Serbia in 1909 over the annexation of Bosnia.

During the week which followed the Serbian reply to the Austrian note, European powers passed through the most critical period since Napoleon's escape from Elba, the excitement being more intense in 1914 by reason of the fact that there was a chance that war might yet be averted. It was obvious that both England and France wished to preserve peace on account of their unpreparedness, while Russia was poorly equipped, and had not yet recovered from the effect of the Japanese war and the Revolution of 1905.

The two matters which Dr. Colby considered of the greatest importance during this week of negotiation were the issue between Russia and Germany regarding mobilization; and the attitude of Great Britain towards Germany and Austria on the one hand and towards France and Russia on the other hand.

From the very first, said Dr. Colby, Russia adopted a clear-cut policy towards Austria and Germany. Russia stated to Austria that she would do all in her power to see that Serbia adopted any reasonable demands made upon her, but Russia disagreed with Austria when the latter said that the dispute was one which concerned Austria and Serbia alone. Germany also claimed that the matter was one which concerned only the two states at odds, but when the 48 hours' ultimatum was presented, supported Austria in every way. Russia's mobilization was brought about by the general call to arms of Austria. Russia had no such system of railways on her border as had Germany, nor was her army in such a state of efficiency as was Germany's. Thus Russia could not postpone a movement which Germany might put off until the very eve of war.

The diplomacy of Sir Edward Grey in dealing with the situation which had arisen in Europe was explained in detail, by the lecturer, who pointed out that both Asquith and Grey postponed all definite action until Parliament could give them whole-hearted support, so sincere were England's peace motives, and so complete was the absence of all aggressive feeling.

POST OFFICE ISSUES SOUND INSTRUCTIONS

All Parcels for Prisoners of War Must be Packed Well.

The following instructions re the sending of parcels to prisoners of war in Germany have been received by the "Daily" from the Post Office authorities at Ottawa:

The Post Office Department has been notified by the British Post Office that many parcels sent from Canada to Prisoners of War in Germany are being received in London in a damaged condition, so that frequently they have to be repacked before they can be forwarded to Holland for transmission to Germany. The British Post Office adds that in most cases the damage appears to be due to the fact that the parcels were inadequately packed by the senders.

The public are warned, therefore, that parcels for Prisoners of War, unless they are very strongly packed, will probably arrive in such a condition as to be of little or no use to the recipients.

Ordinary thin cardboard boxes, such as shoe-boxes, and thin wooden boxes should not be used; nor does a single sheet of ordinary brown paper afford sufficient protection. Even where proper materials are used, it is important that the contents should be tightly packed so as not to shake about during transit. The following forms of packing are recommended:

(1)—Strong double cardboard or strawboard boxes. Those made of corrugated cardboard and having lids which completely enclose the sides of the box are the most suitable.

(2)—Tin boxes such as are used for packing biscuits.

(3)—Strong wooden boxes.

(4)—Several folds of stout packing paper.

The British authorities advise that parcels for Prisoners of War in Germany must not be wrapped in linen, calico, canvas, or any other textile material.

Parcels posted in Canada for Prisoners of War in Germany which have not been adequately packed by the senders will not be forwarded, but will be returned to the senders, as the British Post Office has notified the Department that parcels which are inadequately packed must be returned to the sender.

MANY QUEEN'S MEN HAVE DONNED KHAKI

Spirit of Self-Sacrifice Shown by Staff and Students.

At a meeting of the trustees of Queen's University yesterday a movement was inaugurated to supplement the income of the University by ten thousand dollars a year for the next five years.

A number of the trustees undertook to make annual subscriptions. Resolutions were adopted expressing profound appreciation of the spirit of self-sacrifice shown by the members of the staff of Queen's who have enlisted in the war and in the enthusiastic response of the students of Queen's University to the call of the war.

The committee which was appointed to nominate a successor to Principal Gordon, who has resigned, was not in a position to report, and was empowered to continue its work. At the autumn convocation last night a splendid life-size portrait of Principal Gordon was unveiled by the Rev. Dr. Strachan, of Toronto. It is the gift of the trustees and is the work of E. Wylie Grier, of Toronto.

MEETINGS ARE SUSPENDED.

At the annual meeting of McGill University Oriental Society held on Tuesday evening in the Arts Building, it was decided to suspend the ordinary meeting of the society this session, or so long as the war may last.

The officers of the society were asked to remain in office another year, and the only change made was the appointment of M. McLennan, the assistant secretary-treasurer of last year as Secretary and Treasurer this year in the absence of the Secretary, Mr. T. H. McVittie, who is now at the front, and the absence of the Treasurer, who has left the city.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

DEPARTMENT OF COLONIZATION, MINES AND FISHERIES.

The chief minerals of the Province of Quebec are Asbestos, Chromite, Copper, Iron, Gold, Molybdenite, Phosphate, Mica, Graphite, Ornamental and Building Stone, Clays, Etc.

The Mining Law gives absolute security of Title and is very favourable to the Prospector.

MINERS' CERTIFICATES.

First of all, obtain a miner's certificate, from the Department in Quebec or from the nearest agent. The price of this certificate is $10.00, and it is valid until the first of January following. This certificate gives the right to prospect on public lands and on private lands, on which the mineral rights belong to the Crown.

The holder of the certificate may stake mining claims to the extent of 200 acres.

WORKING CONDITIONS.

During the first six months following the staking of the claim, work on it must be performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days of eight hours.

SIX MONTHS AFTER STAKING.

At the expiration of six months from the date of the staking, the prospector, to retain his rights, must take out a mining license.

MINING LICENSE.

The mining license may cover 40 to 200 acres in unsurveyed territory. The price of this license is Fifty Cents an acre per year, and a fee of $10.00 on issue. It is valid for one year, and is renewable on the same terms, on producing an affidavit that during the year work has been performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days' labor on each forty acres.

MINING CONCESSION.

Notwithstanding the above, a mining concession may be acquired at any time at the rate of $5.00 an acre for SUPERIOR METALS, and $3.00 an acre for INFERIOR MINERALS.

The attention of prospectors is specially called to the territory in the North-Western part of the Province of Quebec, north of the height of land, where important mineralized belts are known to exist.

PROVINCIAL LABORATORY.

Special arrangements have been made with the POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL of LAVAL UNIVERSITY, 228 ST. DENIS STREET, MONTREAL, for the analysis of minerals at very reduced rates for the benefit of miners and prospectors in the Province of Quebec. The well equipped laboratories of this institution and its trained chemists ensure results of undoubted integrity and reliability.

The Bureau of Mines at Quebec will give all the information desired in connection with the mines and mineral resources of the Province, on application addressed to

HONORE MERCIER,

Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, Quebec.
